$5.6 million Hirst, other sales warm up Frieze

ArtfixDaily Staff - October 14th, 2010 02:29

London's Frieze Art Fair started off on a high note with a number of swift sales. The VIP preview opening on Oct. 13, featuring $375 million worth of art by contemporary artists, attracted high-profile collectors from hedge-fund manager Steven Cohen to Greece's Dakis Joannou, among others, reports artinfo. One early purchase was Damien Hirst's 2006 work, "The True Artist Helps the World by Revealing Mystic Truths," with 400 fish specimens in three formaldehyde-filled ...
